Henry St. Rayner, formerly of Ogalalla also a former resident of Sidney and known to many North Platte people, has been disbarred from practicing law by the supreme court of Oregon. The charge on which he was disbarred was that of changing the records in a murder case, extracting two pages of the records which were detrimental to his client and substituting two others. The fraud was discovered through a difference in the type writing of the original pages and those which he substituted.

President Burt passed through town yesterday but he did not tarry long; just about long enough to have engines changed on his special train. A few months ago President Burt did not have much use for North Platte and its people; in fact he almost wished that the town might be bodily transported over to the B. & M. or any other place off the line of the Union Pacific. Later Mr. Burt learned that we were not as villainous as some had represented us to be, and now that he knows the full truth he does not feel so harshly toward us. Mr. Burt also knows, now, that as a shipping point North Platte stands near the head in the list of all the shipping points on the Union Pacific—and that is something to Mr. Burt and his road.

The material for the stone walk in front of the Weisner Meat Market and the Enterprise Bakery was received the latter part of last week and the walks are being laid.

With the Thanksgiving game, the foot ball season closed so far as regards the High School team. Four games were played, three of which were won, and had not several of the players been disabled in the last game with the K. M. A. at Kearney, the result would have been a clean score for the season. So far as is now known, the 1902 team, with but three exceptions, will be intact for the season of 1903. To take the place of those who will drop out, there is material at hand to develop, so that the team of next year should be as strong if not stronger than the '02 team, for nearly all the players will have the advantage of this year's experience.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Engine 1520, one of the new compounds, came from the east yesterday and was sent to the Wyoming division.

The Union Pacific has issued the sixth edition of "Nebraska and its Agricultural Resources," a pamphlet which contains much information relative to the state.

Extensive construction work on the Union Pacific will begin early next season between Archer and Cheyenne, in which the grade will be materially lessened and many of the present curves taken out.

Andrew Camaratti, who was in town yesterday, says that all the Italians now at work on the Union Pacific will be assembled at Dunham, Wyo., Dec. 15th to lay the steel on part of the new road bed which was constructed this summer.

The presence of Vice-Chairman Hockenberger, of the B. of L. E., in Omaha has given rise to the report the Union Pacific engineers are about to make a demand for increased pay. This is a mistake. Mr. Hockenberger's mission in Omaha is to intercede in the individual cases of Engineers Post and Welch, of Cheyenne, who were discharged from the service of the company several months ago.

A special train of three cars came in from Omaha yesterday having on board President Burt, General Manager Buckingham and Supt. Baxter of the Union Pacific, General Traffic Manager Stubbs of the Harriman systems, F. A. Nash, general western agent of the C. M. & St. Paul and other officials of the latter road. The trip of these railroad officials is said to be in connection with the agreement with the St. Paul road whereby that road will, beginning about January 1st, run a through Pacific coast train over the Union Pacific. The train left Omaha at eight a. m. and reached here at 2:15, making the run in six hours and a quarter or at the rate of nearly fifty miles an hour. Engine 1850, in charge of Chas. Ell and with Joe Mooney as conductor, took the train out of this terminal and made the run to Cheyenne. The only stops made were at Julesburg and one other point for water, the tank of coal taken on here lasting during the trip.
